THE ASIATIC RESEARCHES; or, Transactions of the Society instituted in Bengal, for enquiring into the History and Antiquities, the Arts, Sciences, and Literature of Asia, by Sir William Jones, &c. printed verbatim from the Calcutta Edition, on a fine vellum Paper, 5 vol. Medium Quarto, 4s 10s. The Same Work, complete in 5 vol. 8vo, 2l 4s, or any Single Volume to complete Sets.

THE only Genuine Edition of DODSLEY'S ANNUAL REGISTER (agreeably to the Assignment made by the Executors of the late Mr. JAMES DODSLEY) from its Commencement in 1758 to 1793 inclusive; 35 vol. new, neatly half bound and lettered, for 11l, or 35 vol. new, in calf, elegantly gilt, rolled, &c. 13l.

* Any single Volumes, to the Year 1790, may be had, price 5s 9d in boards, or 6s 4d half bound and lettered.

THREE NEW VOLUMES OF DODSLEY'S ANNUAL REGISTER ARE JUST PUBLISHED, viz. for 1791, 1792, and 1793, new, neatly half bound, uncut, leather back, lettered, for 7s 3d, or in boards, 6s 6d each.

The VOLUMES for 1794 and 1797 ARE NEARLY READY FOR PUBLICATION, and the Intermediate Volumes are in great forwardness.

A Translation of the ABBE BARTHELEMI'S TRAVELS OF ANACHARSIS THE YOUNGER, INTO GREECE, carefully abridged, with the Life of the Author, a large coloured map and fine plates, 8vo, new, in boards, 6s 3d.

The Utility of this Work cannot be better Judged than by the rapid Sale the former Translation has experienced.—From its then Voluminous State, many must have been prevented from Purchasing a Work of the utmost Utility, not only to the Classical Scholar, but to Young Persons in general. That difficulty is now abated, the above Abridgment possessing every material Article contained in the eight Volumes.—It is particularly recommended to Masters of Academies, &c. as an excellent Prize Book for those Scholars who are in the Higher Classes.

The same Work in French, new, in boards, 6s

SHERIDAN IMPROVED, a General Pronouncing and Explanatory Dictionary for the Use of Schools, Foreigners learning English, &c. in which it has been attempted to improve on the Plan of Mr. Sheridan, the Discordancies of that celebrated Orthoëpist being avoided, and his Improperities corrected, a thick octavo volume, new, in boards, for 6s 6d, 1798.

Ditto, a small neat edition for the Pocket, new, neatly bound and lettered, 3s

The Rapidity with which two very large Impressions of the above Work have been sold, is the best Proof of its Superiority over similar Publications; neither Pains nor Expence have been spared in rendering this Edition worthy the Acceptance of the Public: the Number of Words new to this Edition is not short of Two Thousand, and the Orthoëpy throughout has been carefully revised and reformed.

To the smaller Edition the like Attention has been paid, and although not so Copious as the Octavo, it contains more Words than other Dictionaries of a much larger size. From these Circumstances it will be found particularly useful to Masters of Academies, Teachers, &c.

A NEW EDITION OF CICERO'S LETTERS TO HIS FRIENDS, with Remarks by the late William Melmoth, Esq. and a fine portrait, by Bromley, 3 vol. 8vo, in boards, 15s, 1799.

By JAMES THOMAS KIRKMAN,

Of the Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn.

With a fine Portrait by Ridley, 2 vol. 8vo, Price 14s. in Boards.

* * * To all the Patrons and Lovers of the Drama, to the Admirers of Biography, and to Actors in particular, this Work must be extremely interesting. It is replete with Anecdote, and abounds with whimsical Incidents and extraordinary Adventures. But, what particularly enhances the value of this Work is, the circumstantial account which it contains of the peculiar manner in which Mr. Macklin lived to attain to a very extraordinary age. — It consequently points out the way to prolong life.

- * * No species of Literary Productions affords a more general Amusement than a collection of Anecdotes; they enlighten the Mind, without overburthening the Memory, and interest us in the Characters of whom they are recorded, forming a pleasing recess from the more Laborious Studies—In the above Anecdotes of the Emperor Peter, we see a Bold, Vigorous, and Enterprising genius, born in a rude Country, bustling through the Deficiencies of Education, and all the Decorums of State, many of which he did not know, and all of which he disregarded; to pursue his own Extensive Schemes, and to gratify his private Humours, had he Issued all his orders from the formalities of a Court, and never laid aside the Prince, he never could have realized his grand Conceptions, nor have made so speedy an Importation of Arts and Civil Manners into a Country where they were total Strangers, and have taught them to such reluctant Scholars.

✶ The unprecedented Preference which has been given to DODDSELEY'S AN-NUAL REGISTER, in almost every Nation in Europe, is the best proof that can be adduced of its merit. A more faithful, or just recital of the Public Occurrences is not to be met with; added to this, the great variety of Original Matter it contains, and written in that animated and spirited style that justly establish the Work as one of the Standards of the English Language.—At the Sale of the late Mr. Doddsley's Stock, Messrs Lackington, Allen, & Co. (in conjunction with others) purchased the whole Copy-right in the above Work, together with his entire Stock, consisting of above 12000 Volumes. The Proprietors, with confidence, lay the Volumes for 1792 and 1793, before the Public, and it will ever be their Study to observe the same Line of Impartiality which has been so eminently distinguished throughout the Work; no longer than they observe this shall they think themselves entitled to the Public Confidence; for this purpose Men of the first Literary Talents are engaged in order to bring up the Intermediate Volumes, from the Year 1790, the vol. for 1791, will very shortly be ready for Publication, and these FOR THE YEARS 1797, and 1798 are in the Press and will speedily be laid before the Public, the

- Recent Circumstances in our Naval Annals having rendered every Account of the Source of the Nile an Object of Enquiry; and the above Work being very scarce, it was judged that a new edition of it would be very acceptable to the Public, and the more so as the late Abyssinian Traveller (i. e. Mr. Bruce) arrogates to himself the Unique Merit of Discovering the Head of the Nile, and takes uncommon pains to make his Readers believe that no Person had ever arrived at those so much famed sources—But it is very remarkable that this Modern Traveller's Account of these celebrated Fountains are nearly in the very Words of the Old Work, the Inference is obvious.

- * * * The Fair Author of Louisa Mathews has shewn in the contrivance of her plot, and support of her Characters, a knowledge of Human Nature, and great vigour of Imagination. The Dramatis Personæ of our Modern Novelists are generally drawn extremely good, or very vicious, but the selfishness and accidental goodness of William Montague are ably discriminated, and the occasional Starts of Lady Eleanor's ambition, and the vulgarity of Lady Berkland are well preserved through this interesting Story.

The Authoress, from her knowledge of Polite Life, has an Advantage peculiar to most of her Contemporaries, of Painting her Likenesses truly Originals. The whole of the Characters introduced in this Novel are genuine Portraits of Persons now living. The Incidents, Situations, &c. are related in that Pleasing Unaffected Manner, so as at once to convey Instruction and afford Entertainment to every Class of Readers.*

- * * * The Rapidity with which two very large Impressions of the above Work has been sold, is the best Proof that can be adduced of its intrinsic Merit, as well as highly gratifying to the Proprietors. As the Work has met with that general Encouragement, neither Pains nor Expence has been spared in rendering the Octavo Edition worthy the Acceptance of the Public: the Number of Words new to this Edition is not short of Two Thousand, and the Orthoepey throughout has been carefully revised and reformed.
- To the smaller Edition the like Attention has been paid, and although not so copious as the Octavo, it contains more Words than other Dictionaries of a much larger Size. Under these Circumstances, it is particularly recommended to Masters of Academies, Teachers, &c.
